A useful first recording

Initial setup includes equipment matching, basic configuration, one sample recording check and one defined handover session. The written quote states the session length, delivery method and supported devices.

Keep your content working

Approved recordings can support short lesson clips, program updates, product demonstrations and website copy. Editing, reviewed transcripts and AI processing are optional services with their own scope.

Plan live delivery separately

A live session needs a supported camera path, usable audio, a selected destination and a tested connection. 360 recording and camera glasses do not by themselves provide a complete live or headset service.
